DETAILED ACTION

1. The enclosed detailed action is in response to the Application submitted on August 18, 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-2, 5-13 and 16-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kolichtchak (PGPUB: US 2003/0014667).

Regarding claims 1-2, 10-13, 21-24, 27-29 and 32-35, Kolichtchak discloses a system comprising a memory (Figure 1, Reference 110); a plurality of pages held in the memory (section 0009); an instruction translation lookaside buffer (ITLB) (Figure 1, Reference 190); a first data translation lookaside buffer (DTLB) (Figure 1, Reference 180); a translation lookaside buffer [inherent; when a miss occurs in the ITLB, a miss handler [software/code] retrieves the entry from the page table and when a miss occurs in the DTLB a miss handler retrieves the missed page entry from the page table); an executable/non-executable (x) indicator [user/supervisory mode] associated with each page in memory (Figure 2, bit 2; section 0011) wherein the TLB miss handler sets the x-indicator for a particular page to indicate non-executable when that page is accessed in a mode that allows writing to that page, and wherein the

Art Unit: 2187

ITLB refuses to allow instructions from a page with an associated x-indicator of non-executable to be loaded [section 0014].

Regarding claims 5, 9, 16 and 19, Kolichtchak discloses a read bit indicating that the page is valid and readable and a write bit indicating that the page is valid and writable (Figure 2, bit 2; section 0011).

Regarding claims 6, 8, 18, and 20, Kolichtchak discloses a write bit associated with each page in memory that indicates the respective page is writable (Figure 2, bit 1; section 0011)

Regarding claims 7 and 17, Kolichtchak discloses a page table used to translate a virtual address to a real address, wherein the x-indicator for each page is held in the page table entry associated with that page (Figure 2, bit 2; section 0011).

Regarding claims 25-26, 30-31 and 36, Kolichtchak discloses translating the address for the data access also including setting the non-executable indication for a page holding the data access address on if a write indication is set for that page (Figure 3, Reference 310).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3, 4, 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kolichtchak (PGPUB: US 2003/0014667).

Regarding claims 3-4 and 14-15, Kolichtchak does not disclose utilizing the DTLB only for vector and scalar accesses to memory. A data translation lookaside buffer translates read/write accesses to data in the memory. In a system that perform scalar and vector memory data accesses, the DTLB would be used for those memory accesses. Kolichtchak does not explicitly disclose using scalar and vector memory accesses, however, one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to use Kolichtchak 's teachings [buffer overflow detection/protection] in a system that performs vector and scalar memory accesses, wherein the DTLB would only be used for those accesses, for the desirable purpose of providing accuracy and data protection.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed February 27, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Regarding Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 21 and 27, the Examiner disagrees.

Data address translation occurs when the system accesses the address and corresponding entry in the page table is accessed to retrieve the physical address. When the page table entry is accessed, the accessed entry is written into the DTLB where the non-executable indication is set by writing the value of indicator in the DTLB.

Kolichtchak teaches that when a page is non-executable the privilege is set to supervisor mode which prevents execution of the page (loading, etc.) by users having a user privilege only.

Hence, Kolichtchak refuses access to those pages by users having only a user privilege (refer to section 0011; lines 18-21; section 0014).

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
